Fashionable Fridays ~ Covet Launch Hosted by Ramona Singer

It has been quite a week! Mid week, Coach launched their MYNY Campaign which you can see here (and you can find out more about my participation within this fun project on our post this week) and it was a week of lots of meetings and events! The next two weeks are all about Holiday Previews and then I begin traveling to a number of places until Fashion Week! Time flies and we're mid year - I can't even believe that to be honest! But this week Jacob (our Men's Editor who you will hear more from when we hit Fashion Week) and I headed out to Covet for their launch which Ramona Singer of Real Housewives of New York hosted! There were so many people there from some socialites, models, photographers and more. Drinks were quite plentiful as we all hung out. If you want a full on report then you should check out Photographer and Examiner Writer, Shawn Punch (who took amazing shots of the Forever 21 Walk on Water Show that took place on the Frying Pan last month see his gallery here) who has an a fab post and of course a great amount of pictures from the event. I even got some time to chat with him.

It's always fun to go out to bump into friends as we were all coming from a number of events that took place that night (so sorry Kitty Bradshaw that I missed your 2 Year Blogiversary but I know it was amazing and that having it at the APART Showroom is always a gorgeous space and a place that I enjoy shopping at). Here are some of my fave pictures that Shawn Punch took and I can say that this space is such an intimate one that you'll never believe that it's in Midtown East. I do plan on coming back quite often.
